VICTORY AND THURMAN.

In happy coincidence with the great Democratic victory was the gathering last night at Columbus, Ohio, to do honor to that grand old Democratic war-horse, Allen G. Thurman. From all parts of the United touch with the people, and who, therefore, could rejoice with Cleveland and Thurman the attacks it has had to withstand, the their special application to the details of tribute paid him must have been most grat- his work.

But where a leader of the Democracy may feel that in the voice of the people is agent of the Peabody fund as large a de his own vindication his cup of foy is filled gree of philosophical and practical force of to overflowing. Born in the Old Dominion, mother of States and of statesmen Thurman, following natural instincts, could not help being a Democrat. Educated for which he has drawn up while filling this the law, he soon won true success, by perseverance, industry and ability. He was the discussion of questions of public edu eted to Congress in 1844, and in 1851 a judge of the Supreme Court of Ohio, and for two years, until 1856, he was Chie. The rise of Republicanism turned Ohio into a political jungle for years, but yet vere a few men like Thurman who kept brightly burning the pure light of Jef- eral subject covered in these reports, and i fersonian Democracy. Defeated in 1867 by worthy of the thoughtful perusal of all Hayes for the governorship of the State, he was elected to the United States Senate in 1869. At that time many of the Senators were statesmen, and Thurman took his place among them on equal terms with the leaders, and soon all learned to honor and respect him, and to bear tertimony to his worth as a man and as a Democrat, when in 1881 end in that body. Some of his associates in the Senate have died, some have become man stands to-day a living monument of ing Turkey" would be a timely chapter integrity and honor.

Retirement from the Senate did not retire he was one of the leaders in the contest fled, as which resulted in the people's being deprived of their victory by the unstinted use of money and treachery. So, as one of the people he spoke last night of the people lists, than about anything else. Or, pe it is not at all unlikely that some enthusilinonish all his editorial space for the speech. The strength and vigor of Ameri- bill. can citizenship was his theme. Frugality and economy he mentioned as important factors in that citizenship, and from this starting point carried his hearers rapidly through the history of the past few months, and showed clearly the bald falsehood of the position of those who would seek to make the imposition of a robber tariff seem easy by trying to persuade the sufferers that extravagance in private and public life was the desideratum, while frugality was to be despised. As Cleveland said: was to be despised. As Cleveland said:

"When, therefore, men in high places of trust, charged with the responsibility of lis issued this week in a new and attractive making and executing our laws, not only condemn but flippantly deride cheapness have consolidated; Far and Near is the Croup, coughs, or colds. and economy within the homes of our peo- name of a new weekly in New York deple, and when the expenditures of the Gov. voted to the interest of working women. ernment are reckless and wasteful we may These are some of the newspaper notes of TOBACCO DOES NOT MAKE YOU be sure that something is wrong with us, the past few days. and that a condition exists which calls for a vigorous and resentful defense of Americanism by every man worthy to be called an American citizen." People were actually hoodwinked for a number of years by such arguments, half Jonah for its candidate for the Presidency concealed by sectional hatred, false promises and corruption, but at length they began to think. Like Crowley in the days of King Arthur, they were reduced to such a state that they were unwilling to be per- NEWS OF THE NICARAGUA CANAL. suaded that they were being imposed upon by anybody. But the leaven of reform in. The Work Progressing in a Most Satisfactroduced under Cleveland began to work. People began to feel the shoe pinch. They began to realize that the amount of wages was not determined by the number of cents in them, but by the amount of food and clothing they would secure; that money was but the medium of exchange and that to be told that it was wrong to buy cheap goods or provisions did not clothe or feed their wives and children. They saw no benefit to be derived by them in paying prices artificially exchanged as the clother who are the control of the company has more than fulfilled its obligations as to expenditures upon the control of the company has more than fulfilled its obligations as to expenditures upon the their wives and children. They saw no benefit to be derived by them in paying prices artificially enhanced. So the plotter who had schemed the robbery was arraigned by an indignant people, which in free America unite in themselves the prerogratives of judge, jurors, prosecuting attorneys and executioners. This time the jury box could not be so effectively packed as was the case two years before. Corruption funds were scarcer and the jurors did not vote by deputies. The foul and hideous monster called Radicalism was pronounced guilty by the people and condemned to death. The majority of the people condemned the system by voting against it; the rest by not voting in favor of it. If there is any comfert in that fact for schemers of any political stripe they are welcome to it. Could the people have executed Radicalism at once they would have done so. But they had respect for law, and as the law stood in opposition to sudden death it had to be deferred until two years of the people was given the opportunity for repentance—or for suicide. Indications point to suicide, as from last reports the fallows the canal has more than fulfilled the solutions as to expenditures upon the ke solitations as to expenditures upon the ke solitation and on the favorable prospects at the deverable prospects at the canal company on the results of his context the results of the event company has been expended during the cutset of the second year of operations. In the meantime the people will regard the utterances of that bold, outspoken exconent of opposition to Radicalism, whether it involves honesty of administration, jusice in the tariff, or purity of the ballot. They echo his latest sentiment, "Who can now doubt that conscience and courage point out the way to public duty?"

THE TIMES is in receipt of a copy of the

In referring to the report of the general agent. THE TIMES can but echo the sentiment expressed by Mr. Winthrop, the resident of the Board of Trustees, in his pening address, that no one "can examine without being impressed with the un, ring diligence of its author in the discharge of his most responsible and laborious duties nor without being satisfied and gratified by he amount and value of what has been accomplished by him." To this expression of warm appreciation of the practical value of the general agent's work, a tribute may be very justly added to States came representative men, who are in that powerful grasp upon all the general principles relating to the subject of popular education, to that weightiness and breadth in the triumph of the people. To a man of thought and that vigor and felicity of whose faculties are unimpaired by age, and expression which makes Dr. Curry's reports whose Democracy is unshaken in spite of so interesting and instructive, apart from

Wakefield has, to my own personal knowledge, been in very bad health for seven or
